

RESEARCH FELLOW, STANFORD LAW SCHOOL (Fixed term positions)

* multi-job posting

Commitment

Full-time, starting Summer 2010, for 12-24 months each

Description

Assist with the research of Professors Alison Morantz, Daniel Ho, Daniel Kessler, and Jeff Strnad at Stanford Law School. All positions involve assessment of existing empirical work, statistical analyses of large data sets, programming, basic research and data collection, and report writing. These positions are ideal for recent college/university graduates and provide an excellent opportunity for those considering law school, graduate school, and/or business school in the future. Prior research fellows have matriculated to law school at Harvard, Yale, Stanford, and Columbia and/or Ph.D. programs at Harvard, Yale, Stanford, and MIT. Several positions are available.

Job Qualifications

- Outstanding academic credentials and intellectual ability required.
- A background in a social science or a mathematical field and interest in law and public policy.
- Experience with quantitative data analysis, statistics, and/or econometrics, and familiarity with commonly used statistical/numerical analysis packages.
- Basic knowledge of computer programming required.
- Solid quantitative aptitude, excellent communication skills, attention to detail, strong writing abilities, and the ability to work independently.
- Prior research experience, especially in labor economics, workers' compensation, health economics and policy, or quantitative political science/political economy preferred.

How to Apply

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis until the positions are filled. There are (2) steps to applying:

(1) Send a resume, cover letter (addressed to "Research Fellows"), unofficial transcript, list of at least 2 references (including e-mail and phone numbers of professors or employers), and standardized test scores (e.g. GRE, LSAT, GMAT) by e-mail to:
Stanford.Law.Fellows@gmail.com

(2) Submit your resume online via the Stanford jobs website http://jobs.stanford.edu/find_a_job.html - enter the job number 36164 in the keyword search field to locate this job posting and apply.