

Border Stylo, the creator of Glass, is looking for creative thinkers and doers. Not ordinary interns but stellar personalities who are passionate about new technology and hungry for top-notch experience.

Become part of our game-changing start-up and gain valuable business and marketing experience.

Who we are: A tech start-up based in Los Angeles, CA

The position: Campus Catalyst

Border Stylo is hiring a select group of Catalysts that will be responsible for championing our revolutionary new web product, Glass, on campus. We are looking for candidates who love new technology and are responsible, detail-oriented, outgoing, creative and curious. Procrastinators need not apply, as you will be supervising yourself most of the time. The position will require 6-8 hours of work per week from your dorm or apartment, including regular communication with our College Outreach Coordinator in our Los Angeles office via email or phone. You will use Glass, share it (which will initially be invitation only), and give us feedback on how you, your friends, and others on campus are using it and liking it. While this position is unpaid, you will get numerous sweet benefits including:

- 1) Academic credit
- 2) Real-world experience and responsibility (no grunt work such as filing or fetching coffee)
- 3) The inside scoop on Glass while we're in stealth mode
- 4) Invitation codes to hand out during the private Beta phase
- 5) Access to members of the founding team
- 6) Gifts for you and swag to share
- 7) The potential for an all-expense paid trip to meet the founders and Catalysts from other colleges

To apply, please send your resume to catalyst@borderstylo.com

Please put your school and name in the subject line of your email. No faxes please! We look forward to hearing from you.

High five.

BORDER | stylo

Border Stylo is a rapidly growing start-up located in Hollywood, CA. We are a software development company focused on creating breakthrough technologies for web applications. We believe in humanizing the Internet and empowering individuals to make each web experience their own. Check us out at www.borderstylo.com