

Undergraduate students wanted to improve U-grad website

We are looking to fill 1-3 10 hour per week, year long positions with undergraduate students who have web skills and a hands on understanding of current u-grad econ student needs to help improve the website for student use. This would include seeking out and posting research data sets, funding opportunities, job opportunities, developing a wiki – your ideas will animate the project. Must have web skills however, to actually implement the work yourselves.

Pay commensurate with experience, but competitive.

Start date: When you're ready, the sooner the better

Please send your resume a cover letter and something about your web skills to:
